And Two Become Four with a Little Help from Latest Technology

By Amy Bingaman

It was a beautiful day in September and I was nervously waiting for the phone call that could change our life forever. I knew after that brief call our life could head in two very different directions. For four years we had dreamed of becoming parents. If the results were negative we would book a vacation and enjoy our life as a married couple. If the results were positive I was heading to the book store to buy every book on the market on how to be the best mom I could be. At 10:00 am the phone rang and my hands were shaking. The results were positive and the numbers were really high. We could not believe it. I was pregnant and could there really be more than one? Oh my God, I could not get my thoughts around the idea. I was pacing all over the house and jumping up and down with excitement. I immediately thought back to the day we conceived our babies in the office of Dr. Mark Trolice. I remembered guarding my feelings and saying to Mark, "Well here we are but it probably won't work". He stopped what he was doing and took my hand. He said, "If you don't believe it then you're right, it will not work. You must believe it will work." I gathered up any last little bit of hope I had and decided to believe one last time. My husband and I were going to be parents. We conceived our beautiful baby girls with the help of Dr. Mark Trolice and his wonderful staff. Our twins were born on April 27, 2006 and there is not a birthday that goes by that I don't remember our angel Dr. Trolice. Four years later we were blessed with a beautiful baby boy and now our family is complete. Our experience with IVF was a long road but worth every minute. We could not have done it without Dr. Trolice. He will always hold a special place in our hearts.
